San Francisco is dealing in the right way with the present outbreak of the bubonic plague. Five years ago, when cases of this terrible disease occurred in San Francisco, there was, for a time at least, a disposition to conceal and minimize the epidemic; but experience soon showed, as has been proven emphatically in yellow fever visitations in the south, that the way to fight disease is to fight it openly, and that the Ontlock, Dr. Rupert Blue, of the United States public health service, is in charge of the present fight with in epidemics elsewhere, and the sys. | templation. tem of serum injection is regarded as of value. Tarrytown Man Happens on a Fine

Collection of Five Guinea Pieces. Stories of treasure trove, treasure islands, gold bugs and secret drawers and panels are not altogether confined to the imagination, as is proved by a recent experience of a resident of Tarrytown. Some years ago in the division of the estate of a relative the only thing by which the Tarrytown man was re membered was an unusually heavy antique mahogany desk, which in due time was transported to the house of the recipient and then passed from active notice. In a leisure moment a few days ago the Tarrytown man began to examine the gift and found much to admire in its substantial construction and fine hand carving. In the course of his examination he came across not the mere tradional single secret drawer, but several secret drawers. What was still more to the purpose, each drawer was filled to the brim with English gold pieces of the largest denominations, and the mystery of the great weight of the desk was solved.

Nearly all the coins were of the value of five guineas, which gold piece, timate, is equivalent to more than $26 and weighs considerably more than half again as much as an ordinary silver dollar. The most recent of the gold pieces were of the period of George II. This king was represented by the five guinea piece in considerable numbers. Some of the pieces of this denomination of George II. showed the word "Lima" under the bust on the obverse, which indicated that they had been struck from gold captured by English privateers from Spanish vessels on their way home other five guinea pieces were the letcompany, which mark indicated that The conference broke up at the an- the gold had been sent to the English mint by this company.

There were five guinea pieces of George I. The distinguishing mark on these coins was the figure of an elephant or of an elephant and cattle, to show that the gold had been imported from the district of Guinea in West Africa, from which fact the term "guinea" is derived.
